PREFACE

I began to write on homoeopathy in the year 1994. At that time I was not sure that any publisher Would accept my manuscript, because I was absolutely a newcomer to this field, when my first book was accept by B. Jain Publishers.

I felt encouraged and during these years had contributed three more books on different topics, which have been published by same publishers.

When I had contributed my fourth book I had a relapse of my old spinal trouble (lingering remembrance of an old car accident) which prevented me from working at my writing table for long hours. The whole winter passed in agony and pain. Continuous medication, rest and by Grace of Cod I was able to attend to my work with determination and concentration without which no writer can complete his compositions.

I bent myself upon the notes I have collected from various authorities (an acknowledgement of which is added at the end) and prepared a manuscript assiduously and when ready I typed the whole thing into a compact work, I received a lot of encouragement from the new crop of Homoeopathy doctors, who respect my age ad grey hairs.

This book, titled A GUIDE TO HOMOEOPATHIC TREATMENT IN HEART AFFECTIONS IS DIVIDED INTO THREE PARTS. The first part deals with the pathogenesis of heart diseases. It talks about all the heart ailments a man is susceptible to and gives a brief description about them. The second part is drawn, as an after-thought and given the heading "HEART AFFECTIONS IN CHILDREN". This also is very brief. The third part is dealt with in extent and covers as many remedies as I could lay my hand on. One more specialty of this part is that wherever there is a possibility I have reported that clinical experience of various writers in the form of undernotes.

The fourth part is a supplement and deals with the action of several medicines briefly in a narrative form, if the practicing doctors find this work of any utility in their daily practice I will consider that I have done more than justice to the topic on hand. As I said I am a beginner in this line. Any encouraging words from the readers will encourage me to contribute more of such books in future.

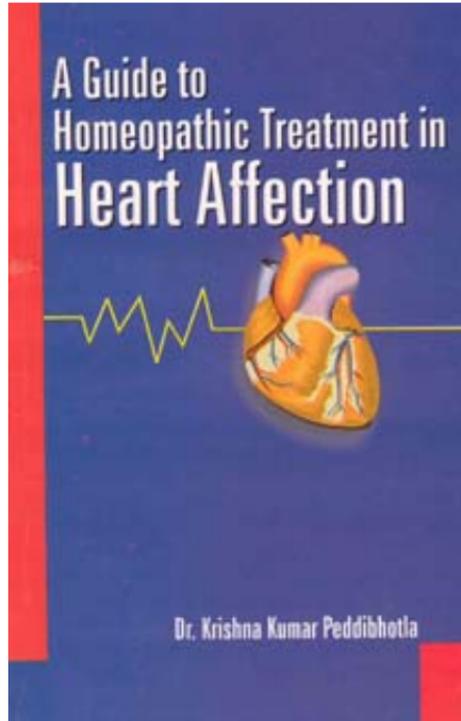

During this period he has come under the influence of one Sri. H. H. Brij Bhushanlalji Maharaj, who was the Pithadhiswar of Third Pitha of Sri Vallabha sampradaya, one of the leading vaishnava religious fraternity, who had coached him into the intricacies Pusti Margia System. The author took lot of interest in the literature of this particular system and began to write independently on various aspects of Vallabha Sampradaya.

After his retirement from his duties of the Mandir the author has once again began to concentrate on his medical activities and joined the medical associations in Baroda, where he has settled after retirement. Here the younger generation of medical practitioners encouraged him to write books on Homeopathy also, because he has a penchant for writing.

Three of his books on Homoeopathy and two on Vallabha Sampradaya had already been in market, one book on medicine is under press. This book, A GUIDE TO HOMOEOPATHIC TREATMENT IN HEART AFFECTION is his fifth in line (The title is changed.)

Though nearing seventy this grey-haired prolific writer promises to contribute his best to both the fields of his liking. He is highly religious minded, leads a life of quietude, has meager wants and is dedicated to the work and his studies on his two favourite subjects in life.

May God present him with sound health.,

Krishna Kumar Peddibhotla
